

And this? What is it?

A stone. This is like that Roman thing or something like that.

What do you mean by “that Roman thing”?

An aqueduct?

Like when they would put this big stones upwards,
like something in ruins or...
I don't know.

No.

Some columns in ruins or something.

No, it's not a construction.

Come on! You're the one that focuses on the details and not on the whole... what colour is this thing here?

This is green... but this....
Ah! But this is not really 'brown': it's a tree!

No. It's not 'brown' because it's not a tree.

What colour is it?

Semi-grey.

It has a colour that is very, very...

Very whitish no? Pay attention, all this part is vegetation right? All the green...

Yes.

Here we have the sky, we have more vegetation...

Yes.

And here, in the middle, a fabulous cascade! Water! Water! it's water falling! And here all the foam.

Well I have the feeling that this is stone.

Really? It is a cascade, a waterfall. Do you see it now that I tell you or you still don't see it?

**...
